

Job Description & Specifications

JOB TITLE: Intern-Staff Writer—Fall 2023
EXEMPT: No
REPORTS TO: Managing Editor, Voice of San Diego

SUMMARY: Under the direction of the Managing Editor, the intern will have the opportunity to work alongside Voice of San Diego reporters and develop meaningful stories. Our intern will obtain a better understanding of local politics and compelling investigative storytelling that serves the San Diego community. In addition to helping reporters with projects, the intern is expected to pursue their own stories and pitch ideas to the editorial team. They will learn to gather and analyze facts through interviews, investigations or observations about current events and/or topics, and write stories in an objective and accurate manner, describing the events, background, meaning, and effects.

This is a paid internship ($16.30/hr). Intern is expected to work 15 - 20 hours per week. Position is available September 5 through December 22, 2023; dates are flexible.

WHO WE ARE

Launched in 2005, Voice of San Diego was the first digital nonprofit news organization to serve a local community in the US. Its founders, longtime columnist and editor Neil Morgan and entrepreneur Buzz Woolley, felt the region desperately needed more reporting and journalistic competition. VOSD made a name nationally with hard-hitting investigative reports and created a new business model for supporting the kind of journalism that hundreds of others have imitated across the country. VOSD is committed to civic engagement and opportunities for San Diego residents to discuss and debate the issues that affect their quality of life. As a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, VOSD is fully funded by individual members, major charitable gifts, foundations and community partnerships. VOSD is based in downtown San Diego, with an annual budget of $2 million and a dedicated board of eight community leaders. Our culture is based on trust, productivity and creativity. Each team member holds themselves accountable for meeting deliverables, deadlines, and standards of journalistic excellence.
